DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

Claims 1-16 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-15 of U.S. Patent No. 6,935,224.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they are an obvious variation of the patented claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 2 and 5-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over KR 2002-0057012 in view of Hedenberg '009.

There is disclosed in the Korean reference a bread maker, comprising: upper and lower kneading drums 11, 13 holding upper and lower parts of a mixing bag 7; a driver 26, 27 rotating the kneading drums in two directions; a baking tray 15 having a slit defined by the tray being formed of two parts; an oven compartment 10; a controller 70 for the driver; a rotation sensor 30; and a pair of dough-blocking members 17. All of the claimed structural limitations have been met by the prior art reference.

Hedenberg discloses the use of a mixing bag having an upper opening part (between edges 52 and 54) and a lower sealed part. Since the opening and seal extend from one side of the bag to the opposite side, they can be considered to be located at the side edges.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to substitute the mixing bag of KR '012 with the mixing bag disclosed in Hedenberg, in order to alleviate the need for a cutting element.

In regards to the number of rotations of the kneading drum and how it is calculated, such is an obvious matter of operational choice. A programmable controller can be programmed to function as desired by a user. It is apparent that the controller of KR '012 functions so as to control the location of the mixing bag and can therefore be programmed to function as claimed.

The claimed structural limitations have been met by the prior art.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 29 May 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In so much as applicant has defined the upper opening part and lower sealed part, it is the opinion of the examiner that the prior art meets the limitations as claimed. There is nothing in the claim which prevent the upper opening part from being initially sealed and then opened by way of a cutting tool or burstable seal, as is the case in the prior art. The upper opening part is not defined as being open. As per the claim, it is only suggested that the upper part be where the bag is opened. Applicant makes no positive distinction in the claims as to what end is the upper end and which is the lower. In reference to the prior art, it is shown that based upon where the upper and lower ends of the bag are defined, the controller does prevent exposure of those ends to the oven compartment during a portion of the kneading process. It should also be noted that in the apparatus claims, the operation of the device is given patentable weight. The claims should define structurally over the prior art, not functionally.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
